WHEN?

The conference will take place fully remotely as a flip-conference on Hopin on the 9th & 10th of December 2021. It will offer both light-touch (WIP track) and peer-reviewed (Paper track) outlets for any type of work in progress and research that is related to the impacts of the Covid-19 pandemic.

During the conference, presenters will discuss their research projects with the audience based on their video presentations in live Q&A sessions. Some projects will also be given the opportunity to be highlighted in high-profile, moderated panel discussions in dedicated plenary time slots.

HOW?

To participate, register your project studying the impact of Covid-19, along with an abstract of no more than 2000 characters and a 5-minute video presentation of your work by the 1st of October (detailed guidance provided here).

All research projects submitted to #WPRN21 will be featured on the WPRN website, and all video presentations will be made available freely for anyone to access.

WHO?

We welcome research from all areas relating to the impacts of the Covid-19 pandemic, and we explicitly encourage participants to share with the community projects that are not intended for a scientific write-up, as well as work in progress. Suggested topics include:

- Economies in the Pandemic
- Societies in the Pandemic
- Individuals in the Pandemic
- Research in the Pandemic
- Other areas relating to the impact of the Pandemic
